

vMiN example: Consider the argument whose premise is 'Mary might not have been at the wedding' and whose conclusion is 'It's not the case that Mary must have been at the wedding'. Is this form of argument logically valid?

