

vCTnd example: Consider the argument whose premise 'If it's raining, then it's not raining hard' and whose conclusion is 'If it's raining hard, then it's not raining'. Is this form of argument logically valid?

